

Dear Clients and Colleagues

PURE DESIGN INTERIORS: OUR NEW NORMAL

In the light of current situation with regard to the National State of Emergency and lockdown declared by President Cyril Ramaphosa concerning COVID19, now is the time to take responsible, proactive steps to prevent the unintended spread of the virus. As a business, we have taken the necessary precautions for the safety of our team, clients and colleagues and have developed several measures which we have implemented.

Pure Design is set up to be able to continue our business operations remotely and, while there will be some adjustments, it will be “business as usual” as far as possible. All meetings will be conducted online and project related air travel has been suspended with immediate effect. Inevitably, there will be changes to the way that we all do things in the coming weeks; however, we are committed to continuing to provide the high level of service that we always endeavor to deliver.

Our office phone number (021 465 9843) is still fully operational and the Pure Design Team are also contactable on their cellphones. We are all available via email as well.

Although our priority is in assisting in the effort to curb the pandemic, we remain committed to being of service to you.

We will continue to monitor the situation as it unfolds and will update you as to any changes that we may need to implement.

We urge all to take the necessary precautions during this time.

Kind regards
